

ABSTRACT

Optimizing a decoding algorithm used in various telecommunications protocols. Embodiments of the invention relate to a technique for decoding encoded data by reducing redundant calculations and memory accesses and better matching add-compare-select (ACS) operations with corresponding digital signal processing (DSP) instructions.